The Experience of Living in the Light

Step inside. And even before you see it, you sense the light enveloping you, the air flowing freely, the elegant silence of a home suspended between the river and the ocean. This two-story, 422 m² penthouse in the heart of Foz do Douro is not just a home: it's a place that accompanies you, welcomes you, and allows you to move naturally, whatever your pace. The living room opens up like a deep breath. Light streams in through the large windows, glides across the marble floors, and reflects off the soft surfaces of the Venetian stucco. The south-facing terrace is an invitation: it smells of the ocean, of salty air, of freedom. Here, time slows down, the view stretches all the way to the Atlantic, and the Douro becomes a discreet and constant presence. The spaces are spacious and barrier-free, designed to be accessible even to people with limited mobility: the dining room is a place of gestures and rituals that become cherished memories, the study a sanctuary for work or learning, and the game room a smile that lights up the room. The fully equipped kitchen is a laboratory of flavors and conviviality. As you go upstairs, the sleeping area transforms into a more intimate world: four spacious, bright, and quiet suites. The bathrooms, all bathed in natural light, create an atmosphere of well-being that is evident the moment you step inside: marble cool to the touch, surfaces that reflect light, and details that speak of care. The southeast-north orientation ensures that light accompanies every hour of the day: soft in the morning, abundant in the afternoon, and golden in the evening. It is a home that changes with the sky, living in harmony with the rhythm of nature. Three parking spaces, a spacious storage area, and a concierge service ensure security, discretion, and convenience. Every detail is designed to make life easier, even for those who need more accessible spaces....
